

Ink Pots Arts Inc

presents

A new multimedia community project

The Parsifal Project

- ☆ A quest to find the soul in spirit for modern humanity
- ☆ Re-envisioning the medieval legend of Parsifal for a contemporary multicultural audience
- ☆ A year-long community project for all ages

Artistic director: Jo-anne Sarre, Ink Pot Arts Inc
Creative consultant: Fiona Campbell, Painted Space

Stage 1: Parsifal Unpacked

Mondays @ 7.30pm-9.00 pm AEST

13 June – 16 July

*"We are, who we say we are ...
People grow up believing they live within a story ... what is the story we believe we are living in? Where is our narrative going?"*

This project is sponsored by the Ileen Macpherson Trust

A series of 6 webinars deconstructing the story through image and text

Course Facilitator: Fiona Campbell, with guest artists, courtesy of Ink Pots Arts

Immerse yourself in this rich exploration of the Parsifal legend. Using drama and image, we introduce you to this sacred story through snapshot performances from definitive literary texts, artworks and films. Together we explore its spiritual and cultural traditions to elicit its modern meanings for today.

This course is a prerequisite for the Stage 2 creative writing course in Spring.

Time: Mondays 7.30 pm -9.00 pm AEST | Saturday 16th 2.30 – 4.00 pm AEST

Cost: $200 full course or $160 for students (proof/documentation required)

Bookings: You can register here or for more information, contact Jo-anne Sarre
